

Amicalola Falls Lodge and Conference Center is located within 2,050 acre Amicalola Falls State Park in North Georgia, 15 miles northwest of Dawsonville, 18 miles west of Dahlonega and 54 miles from Atlanta's perimeter I-285.

In the midst of the Chattahoochee National Forest, the lodge and park are a beautiful setting for group meetings, family gatherings and conferences. Within walking distance from the lodge is the 729-foot falls that the Cherokee Indians named Amicalola, meaning, "tumbling waters". Amicalola Falls Conference Center is surrounded by natural beauty and creates an atmosphere perfect for any retreat or getaway.

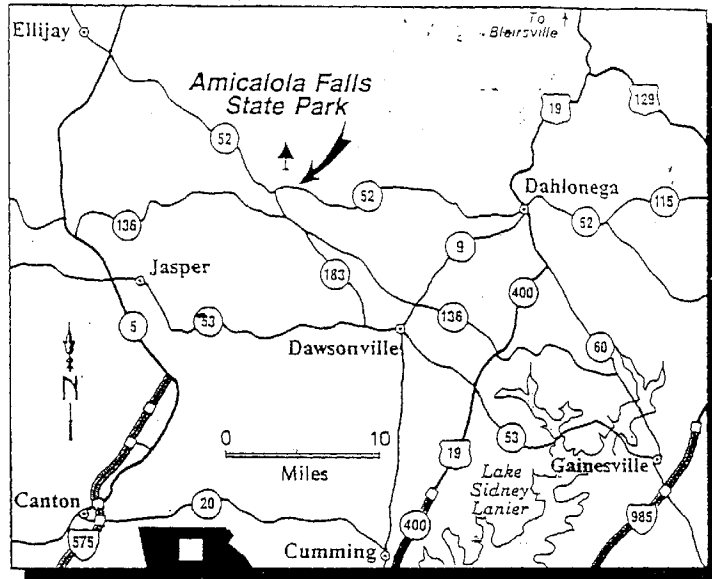

At Amicalola Falls we strive for excellence and believe that the formula for a successful meeting or social function must include an invigorating atmosphere, complimented by informative and friendly service. We hope you make Amicalola Falls State Park and Conference Center your next Great Georgia Getaway!
